

The Ancient Wessex Network Invites You to their First Opening Night.

Saturday 1st August 2009, starting at 6pm until late.

In the Grounds of Corfe Castle, by kind permission of the National Trust.

A chance to meet and see the work of creative people and organisations inspired by and working with the local Heritage.

As part of the British Festival of Archaeology, the network is staging an event on 1st & 2nd August in Corfe Castle, between 11am and 4pm, with displays of artwork, demonstrations and workshops, all relating to the Material Culture of the times before the Romans came.

Featuring the first sight of artefacts from the Lost Museum of Wessex.

*Bring a suitable contribution for the feasting and to fill the drinking vessels!
There will be a small fire for cooking.*

Camping overnight by arrangement in the Castle, in the marquee or bring a tent.

Please park in the visitor centre car park.

Normal admission charges for daytime visitors, entry after 6pm by showing this invitation (you may have to shout to get the gate unlocked!)

More information on website www.beakerfolk.co.uk

RSVP bill@beakerfolk.co.uk or Tel 01305 812030 (leave a message!)